

TEST UPDATE

Fetal Fibronectin

UVMHC

On 04/01/2025, the UVMHC laboratory will change the testing frequency of fetal fibronectin testing due to the low volumes. Testing will still be performed during the day but limited during the evening/night shift. In the event a sample is received during the evening/night timeframe, the sample will be appropriately stored, and testing will be performed on the next day shift.

If you have any questions or concerns about this change, please contact Dr. Hanna Loving at hanna.loving@uvmhealth.org.
